ATTACKED BY A VICIOUS DOG!

ANTHONY MONTROY AND FRANKLIN SCANLON WERE ON THEIR WAY TO SCHOOL ON NOV. 22, 1983, WHEN A BIG DOG JUMPED ON FRANKLIN AND BEGAN BITING HIM ON THE FACE. FRANKLIN PUSHED THE DOG AWAY BUT IT ATTACKED AGAIN, BITING HIM ON THE ARM AND SHOULDER.

SOON A SCHOOL BUS CAME BY, AND THE DRIVER TOOK FRANKLIN TO THE HOSPITAL.

SCOUT ANTHONY MONTROY IS A MEMBER OF TROOP 919, CHARTERED TO THE EUREKA HEIGHTS ELEMENTARY SCHOOL IN TAYLOR, MICH. HIS ACTIONS EXEMPLIFIED THAT POINT OF THE SCOUT LAW THAT SAYS, "A SCOUT'S DUTY," AND EARNED HIM A HEROISM AWARD.

A good deed

Scout's quick thinking earns Heroism Award

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

Heroes are hard to find, but Romulus residents need look no further than Wick School, where 12-year-old Tony Montroy was honored last week for an act of heroism that may have saved his friend's life.

On Nov. 22, 1983, Tony and his friend, Franklin Scanlon, were walking to Halecreek School, when a large Alaskan Malamute jumped on Franklin and began biting him on the face and neck. Tony, who was then a Boy Scout, leaped into action.

"I didn't stop to think or anything, I just grabbed the dog and pushed him up against the fence," he explained. "The dog was bigger than me, and I yelled for Franklin to get into the backyard (of a house they were passing). He was bleeding, but made it into the yard."

"Then, I let go of the dog and ran into the yard, too. At first he started chasing me, but then he saw some other kids down the block and ran that way."

The February issue of Boys' Life, the magazine of Scouting, featured a full page rendering of Tony's brave deed. Tony says he is proud of the article, "but it has one mistake in it. It says that a school bus came by and took Franklin to the hospital and me to school, but actually it was a man named Donald that we knew."

For his actions, Tony received the Heroism Award from the Boy Scouts, which is the highest award of its kind. He also was given a medal.

Monday, Feb. 18, Tony received another award — it was proclaimed "Tony Montroy Day" at Wick School, which he now attends.

"I didn't know about it in advance," Tony said. "I was real surprised! They had my name up and there was an assembly where the principal, Mr. (Eugene) Barr, gave me a certificate. Everybody was talking about me, it was neat, but it was kind of embarrassing, too."

Tony says that if anyone learns something from his experience, it should be to get involved. When asked if he was afraid to pull the large dog from Franklin (who required 17 stitches) Tony says no. He was my best friend ... I had to do something."

Court drops Detro lawsuit

Four years after it began, the court battle between the City of Romulus and DeTro Company appears to be over.

Last week, Detroit Circuit Court Judge Lewis F. Simmons dismissed the suit "without prejudice."

DeTro proposed to build a sludge-to-fertilizer plant on a 40-acre parcel of land just north of Goddard and east of Wayne Road. At the time, Councilman Jimmie Raspberry said the proposed plant "stinks, and would be a health hazard to the City of Romulus."

"I'm relieved, very glad that this is behind us," Mayor Beverly McAnally said of the decision. "I think it would have been a very, very detrimental thing to have in our city, let alone over-looking city hall."

"I'm proud of this city," McAnally said, "it would be horrible to be known as the 'fertilizer capital of the world', which is what probably would have happened."

According to McAnally, the citizens of Romulus "turned out in droves at council meetings to make their feelings known about the proposed plant. They were appalled."

Reportedly, the suit against Romulus was dismissed when DeTro failed to get an attorney — a new one — in the time allotted by the court.

DeTro has two weeks to appeal the court's decision

"We're absolutely delighted that it finally appears to be over," McAnally said, adding that "had the plant gone in, it would have been a giant step backwards for the city, and we're a progressive city."

9-mill renewal sought

Romulus voters will be going to the polls on Monday, March 25, to vote for a renewal of the nine-mill operating millage. Despite difficult ongoing contract negotiations with the teachers union, Romulus Superintendent Dr. William Bedell says he foresees no problems in getting the renewal passed.

"This is the basic operating millage which has been renewed since 1979, and has nothing to do with the millage increase earlier this year, which was to reinstate sixth hour classes, repair roofs on buildings and the like," Bedell said.

The proposed renewal is for a two-year period.

A problem of abuse

Counselling concentrates on older adults

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus Help Center is offering a new specialized counseling service, designed to meet the needs of adults 55 years of age or older who are experiencing problems with alcohol abuse or with their medications.

Jayne Sokoloff, a counselor in charge of the program, says that "older adults respond differently than a young person does to both medications and alcohol. Many of their symptoms go untreated, are misdiagnosed, or are attributed to aging."

Sokoloff claims that mismanagement of drugs is one of the biggest problems facing seniors. "There's a lot of unintentional misuse, it isn't that they're doing it on purpose."

"Many seniors see their doctors as a type of god, and don't always question them or tell them about side effects the doctor may be unaware of. They need to establish better lines of communications with their physician or physicians and let them know what medications other doctors have given them," Sokoloff said, adding "that goes for non-prescription drugs, too."

Dave Baker, the clinical director of substance abuse at the center, added that "there is a definite need to educate people about drugs, and senior citizens in particular, since they consume 25 percent of all prescription drugs." Statistics show that in Michigan, one out of four seniors are taking four or more prescription drugs at once.

According to Sokoloff, there are four general abuse patterns that are often problems for the elderly in particular.

"There is overuse, which is what happens when a person takes too much. Often, they may forget and mistakenly take their dosage more than once."

"Also," says Sokoloff, "there is underuse, which is forgetting to take a medication, discontinuing use of a prescription drug before directed, or failure to even get the prescription filled."

A third problem, according to Baker, is the failure to follow directions on the pill bottle "which happens often because of the inability to read the small print on prescriptions. Also," Baker said, "there seems to be a big problem with seniors sharing their drugs, particularly at senior apartment complexes and convalescent homes."

The fourth problem is intentional abuse, "either with intent to do harm to themselves or — even if they aren't aware of it — addictive use," Sokoloff said.

"Our aim with this new service is to give people confidential help with their problem or even helping them figure out if they have a problem," Sokoloff said, adding "if they are unable to come here, I'll go to them."

"Almost all of the problems are related to pain, either physical or mental, due to the loss of a loved one," said Baker. "A lot of people are embarrassed to ask for help, but they really shouldn't be. It's a very positive thing."

Unlike prescription drugs, senior citizens are not directed by doctors to drink. But many do it on their own and, according to statistics, seven percent, or 91,000, of Michigan's 1.3 million adults aged 60 or over, experience alcohol-related problems or are alcoholics.

In some area nursing homes, it is estimated that as high as 40 percent of the patients are alcoholics.

"It's a very large, very real problem," admitted Sokoloff. "There are two basic patterns of problem drinkers in older adults. There are the people who have had drinking problems most of their adult life, and those that have developed drinking problems in later life in response to a crisis in their life or problems of aging. A lot of people are scared of getting old."

According to Sokoloff, there are five main factors that may lead the older adult to drink heavily. They are retirement, bereavement, loss of income, See COUNSELLING, Page A-8

The new counselling service offered to senior citizens by the Romulus Help Center will be headed by social worker and head counselor Jayne Sokoloff and will address the problems regarding misuse by the elderly of prescription drugs, non-prescription drugs and alcohol. Demise of Detro

There is nothing a united community can't accomplish.

When Detroit Recovery, known in this part as DetRo, proposed to make the City of Romulus "Sludge City U.S.A." and turn the area into one huge dumping ground, the citizens of Romulus stood up and fought it. The absurdly incredible project almost got off the ground because some people foolishly believed that the sludge would bring millions of dollars in taxable assets to the city.

DetRo president Lloyd Mallman, and the project's chief advocate, Don Cox, pleaded with Romulus City Council to allow them to construct a plant that would turn Detroit sludge into fertilizer. DetRo even went as far as to publish a weekly newspaper to present their case.

The year was 1980.

DetRo invited members of council, the school board and the local press to travel to an experimental site in Beltsville, Maryland to view the operation they had in mind.

All went well, until members of the group went "on site" and there, amidst the sickening hue and smell of waste, the V.I.P.s discovered that what they heard was not what they saw. Romulus would be far off better without the proposed project and the millions it promised in tax monies rather than to risk the health and welfare of the residents.

Of course, when council rejected the project, DetRo sued.

It took five years, but Romulus attorney Michael Feiler last week announced that the city has won and can close the books on the controversial chapter.

DetRo will not build here.

According to Romulus City Councilman, Barry Baumann, "The victory over DetRo is fantastic."

"It just goes to show that when people make their feelings known to elected officials, elected officials must carry out those wishes.

"And we owe this victory to our people who stuck behind us, and to our attorney (Mr. Feiler) who did an exceptional job."

Feiler's letter to Council reads, in part, "It gives me great pleasure to report that on Friday, Feb. 15, 1985, Circuit Judge Louis Simmons did dismiss this case (DetRo vs. City of Romulus) ... You will note that the order of dismissal is without prejudice, which means that it is conceivable that DetRo could reinstate a new action if it chooses.

"However, unless this present order is set aside or appealed, then this case is all over. I did indicate in the order that the defendants (Romulus) were to be awarded costs and attorney's fees, however, I frankly do not think it would be worth seeking those costs and fees against DetRo since DetRo virtually has no assets."

Having a ball

While the Belleville High School Band played on, members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs in Belleville enjoyed a "night on the town". The Belleville Band, recently organized thanks to the passage of a school millage, was under the direction of Diane Craven. The "combined meeting" of the local service clubs proved to be a very successful affair — more than 100 persons turned out for it. Above Don Meyer (at left), Kiwanis Club president, and Keith Bruder, president of the Rotary, pause for the ANP photographer while at the right enjoying themselves are Mr. and Mrs. Dave Halman (from left to right), Mr. and Mrs. Donald Elrod and Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Atchinson.

Romulus seeks industrial expansion Campaign aimed at luring new business

The city of Romulus, the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce and the Romulus Economic Development Corporation, assisted by Michigan Bell's economic development group is preparing for a campaign aimed at retaining and expanding business in the community.

Michigan Bell's Industrial Business Retention and Expansion Program is designed to pinpoint concerns of local manufacturing companies from which action plans can be developed for business retention and expansion.

Directed by project manager Mary Fronczak of Farmers Insurance in Romulus and a member of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce, a task force of community and business leaders have already met for the first time.

Later this month, community volunteers will be trained by Steve Balasia, staff manager of Michigan Bell's economic development group, to survey the 83 manufacturing companies in Romulus.

"Volunteers will be interviewing owners of the smallest to the largest businesses in Romulus about sales, labor conditions, and community and governmental relations," said Charlene Jones-Mitchell, Michigan Bell's local corporate affairs manager.

Michigan Bell's program, patterned after a successful program offered by Wisconsin Bell, costs the community nothing. The company trains survey volunteers and compiles a community profile which helps to pinpoint specific industry problems. Corrective action is up to the community, Mitchell said.

Romulus is the sixth Michigan community to work with Michigan Bell's economic group. The business retention program has been completed in Ionia and Wexford counties, is underway in Southfield, Royal Oak and Howell, and several other communities have requested further information, Mitchell said.

"There's a great interest in this project in the Romulus area," she said. "It's obvious the community cares about its future — its leaders are acting now rather than reacting later."

Science Olympiad Belleville to host young scientists

Some 19 area high schools, survivors of local competition and representing schools in Wayne County, will send their young scientists to a "Science Olympiad" that will be hosted by Belleville High.

The young scientists will have their works placed on display at the high school on March 30 and the top entries will qualify for the state competitions.

"The Science Olympiad is a series of events dealing with science. The events range from designing and flying paper airplanes to working in a bio-processing lab. The students compete for medals and team points," according to Christine Diehl, a science teacher at the high school.

On January 3, about 25 students tried out for the Belleville High School Science Olympiad Team. Fifteen of the students were chosen to compete in the regionals.

The first regionals in Michigan will be held at the University of Michigan, Dearborn.

If the team places high in the regionals they will compete in the state competition. The regionals have 15 different events while the state has 24 different events.

The State Olympiad will be held on April 27, at Michigan

A story in the Feb. 20 editions of The Belleville Enterprise incorrectly implied that the Southmark Corp. acquired 96 condominium units as part of its purchase of the Lemontree Apartments. Southmark will provide management services for the condominiums, which are individually owned.

State with nine different regions. The winner of this takes home the state trophy, has their name engraved on it, and keeps it till the next Olympiad.

Mrs. Diehl donated her time and effort to organize the Olympiad. She is helping plan the Wayne County Regionals along with five other people. She has led two teams from North Jr. High to third and seventh place in the past two years. She is also planning a Science Olympiad Club for next year.

The students who will participate in the Olympiad are: Cheron Hayes, Chris Montgomery, Stefan Jonheimer, Laura Norris, Ari Sahrakar, Gary Kenski, Robert Henderson, Tim Parker, Frank Bronkowski, April Marcum, Andre Renier, John Gladhill, Rob Ferret, Faith Paroski and Chad Mullins.

Romulus to mark 'birth'

The Romulus Historical Society is busy preparing for one of the most significant events in the city's history — the Romulus sesquicentennial celebration, which will mark the "birth" of the community 150 years ago.

Plans are being put in place by the Historical Society and other Romulus organizations to ensure the biggest celebration in the history of the city.

Opening ceremonies are scheduled for March 30, Founders' Day. Festivities will begin at Kennedy Park at Five Points, with a flag raising ceremony at noon. The gathering will then proceed next door to the Romulus Wesleyan Church, where a commemorative program will be presented in the sanctuary.

A Founders' Day dance will take place later that evening at Romulus Progressive Hall on Ozga Road. The members of the Historical Society plan to dress in the style of the 1835 era, and they encourage others to join them in doing so.

According to Pearl Varner, president of the society, women's dress, circa 1835, included full skirted dresses, with hoops or crinolines underneath. Flat ballerina-type slippers were the norm, worn with long cotton stockings. Dress sleeves were full leg-of-mutton style and fitted from the elbow to the wrist.

Men should dress as frontiersmen, with a loose-fitting buckskin style shirt or tunic over brown buckskin-like pants. Moccasins were commonplace.

Varner stresses that dressing in the costume of the times "is a very, very important part of all events to be held during the Romulus sesquicentennial celebration year," and adds that "anyone needing more information about putting together a costume should contact Helen Hay, vice-president of the society, at 941-0728.

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK

By Dr. Thomas Anderson

TOO MUCH EXERCISE?

Chiropractors are treating more and more overzealous fitness buffs for neck and back pains, muscle twists, neuritis, shoulder stiffness and many more neuro-musculoskeletal complaints. A doctor-approved fitness program makes good health sense, but you should not overdo it.

Protect against sprains, strains or more serious injuries.

Ask your chiropractor to prescribe warm-up exercises that will loosen your muscles, tendons, ligaments. Suggested aerobics increase circulation and oxygen delivery to muscle tissues. Prescribed stretching exercises make you more flexible. Arrange for regular chiropractic treatments before and after exercise to help you maintain vital nerve flow, limber muscles, and proper body-spinal alignment.

dan's dogs

ris, Associated Newspapers, P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan 48184.

There is a big difference between "puppy" chewing and destructive chewing. The chewing problem usually begins when the puppy is seven months old. This does not rule out the fact that some dogs begin earlier and continue chewing throughout their lifespan. This depends upon how you control the situation.

The most obvious solution is to substitute what the dog is chewing with a like object. For example, if the puppy is chewing something soft, approach him in a mild manner, tell him "No" sharply, and offer him a sock filled with soft material. Logically, if your puppy prefers something hard, reprimand him in the same manner. Offer instead an old sock filled with a hard rubber ball. Repeating this method should change the dog's desire to chew the wrong things. He will eventually understand he has to confine his chewing to his objects only. Combined with the sock method should be the purchase of a training cage. This is not as cruel as it may seem. How your dog accepts the cage depends entirely upon how you introduce him to it. The cage is definitely not a punishment area or prison. Rather, it is his private sanctuary where he can be by himself. No one should bother him when he is placed into or retreats to his cage.

Preferably, the dog should be introduced to the cage over the weekend when everyone is home. His initial stay inside it should last about five minutes. Repeat this throughout the day until the dog becomes comfortable. Remember, the dog should be given the impression you have just purchased him his own private "place" where he can relax. If you follow this guideline the dog will not become frightened or panic-stricken, but will consider the cage his home within a home.

Eventually, by leaving the cage door open, the dog will enter the cage at will. The door, closed when you are leaving for a few hours, will not frighten him since he has already been conditioned to feel secure while confined. He has his socks in his cage for entertainment while you're gone.

Those dogs that chew furniture, shoes, clothing, etc., are chewing out of rebellion. This rebellion is not necessarily the dog's fault. A dog cannot be brought home, become a member of the family, and then suddenly be left alone for eight hours without amusing himself one way or another. The most instinctive reaction on the dogs part is to chew. You have to put yourself in the dog's position. If you were "abandoned" day after day you, too, would resort to any type of entertainment to pass the time. Don't forget, a puppy has the mental level of a seven-year-old child. You cannot expect your dog to automatically differentiate between good and bad behavior without teaching him.

Too many toys given to your dog is like children at Christmas. After the gifts are opened, they end up playing with the boxes. Although extremely popular, a raw-hide bone can be dangerous. The ends become mushy and large pieces are apt to become lodged in the dog's throat or intestinal tract. Therefore, the only acceptable chewing items should be a nylon bone and the dog's two socks. Limit the articles to these three items only!

Medal of Merit Search starts

Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor) has announced plans for his annual Medal of Merit for Outstanding Youth for the 15th Congressional District.

Originally conducted in 1976 as part of the Bicentennial celebration, the awards program was so well received that the Citizens' Committee, which consisted of volunteers from each of the 20 communities within the 15th District, recommended that it be continued as an annual event.

"I believe this is an excellent way to honor some of our truly outstanding young people whose activities and accomplishments too often have gone unnoticed and unrewarded," Congressman Ford said.

Three awards will be available in each of the 20 communities in the 15th District. The first is for youth aged 14 through 18 who are students in senior high school, the second is for high school graduates aged 18 through 22, and the third for youth groups with significant accomplishments.

The medals will be presented by Congressman Ford on Sunday, May 5.

Nomination forms are available from Congressman Ford's District Office in the Wayne Post Office Building, Wayne, Michigan 48184 (722-1411), and from individual committee members.

The deadline for nominations is March 25.

"The committee has decided to use the same ground rules for the judging criteria which they followed in the past. The accomplishments on which judging will be based must be both outstanding and meaningful, and should not be based primarily on academic ability, scholarship, athletic ability or organizational membership. A nominee receiving financial payment for their accomplishment will not be eligible," Congressman Ford explained.

Recognizing that not all people serve as leaders, Congressman Ford added that consideration would also be given to nominees who have contributed time and effort toward meaningful projects, such as volunteer practices, heroic acts and humanitarian efforts.

Elva Ryall of Garden City will again chair the Citizen's Committee.

Local representatives serving on the committee include:

Canton Township — Douglas Ritter (981-2224) and Frank McMurray (453-5355); Belleville — Frank Pascarella (699-1197) or LaDonna Slifco (699-3625); Huron Township — Cookie Kowalski (753-4996) and Chris Camber (753-4466); Romulus — Al Prause (941-7637) and Linda Choate (941-0666);

Sumpter Township — Girtha Folks (461-0214) and Larry Hurst and Esther Hurst (461-2325);

Van Buren Township — Imogene Pence (699-8900), Donna Hall (697-0770) and Fonie Butler (697-9291);

Wayne — Bob Beeny (326-7779) and Mary Amann (729-2937);

Westland — Anita Cobb (721-3216), Dick McKnight (office 522-3443 or 421-1517) and Marge Gartz (office 721-6311 or 427-6848).

Beyond the moon

"Beyond the Moon," a new astronomy and space sciences program on Omnicom Cablevision, will premier at 7 p.m., Tuesday, March 5.

Mike Best, the show's host/producer, is no stranger to the astronomical community. He has taught astronomy in numerous community education classes for nearly 10 years.

You may also have attended one of his travel lectures (he was in the travel industry for 19 years) or stimulating talks on the unidentified flying objects phenomenon.

He's also the lower Michigan field investigator for the prestigious Center For UFO Studies with international headquarters in Evanston, Illinois; and a science writer for the Detroit News.

"Beyond the Moon" promises to be rich in exciting visuals as well as frequent visits by guests prominent in the amateur and professional astronomy field.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has given Best the green light to exhibit still pictures and motion pictures taken by, or about, the agency's interplanetary space draft probes. The ability to gaze up into a pitch black sky studded with stars and feel awe, wonderment and a burning curiosity about your peace in the vast cosmos is the only prerequisite to enjoying "Beyond the Mom."

It will be seen twice a week on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7 p.m.

The show's executive producer is Jeff Stone.

BPW to visit Windsor

February, as the International Month of B.P.W.U.S.A. Twelve different ethnic dishes, of food, were prepared by the United Methodist Women, starting with French Onion Soup, and ending with German chocolate cake.

The program of the evening, was our own member, Ginny Bruder, bringing a message, titled "Workplace of the Future".

Ginny is an account specialist, with the Gregg division, of the McGraw-Hill Book Company. She graduated from Bowling Green University with bachelor and mater degrees in Business Education. After teaching in the class room, for a short period, she left education to work for the McGraw-Hill Book Company.

She emphasized the need, for all young people, to seek computer training, as an adjunct to their chosen profession.

"We are in the 'computer age' and working people need to be educated and trained to compete in the labor market. In computer language, an apple is not necessarily a fruit; a ram not an animal; a chip not a poker chip; and a byte not a mouthful. These double-meaning words are all a part of the computer terminology. Also, office help is going to be of a temporary nature and secretarial companies will be selling their services to major industries," she said.

B.P.W. members were encouraged to bring a sample of their crafts or hobbies, and these items were displayed on viewing tables. This personal participation, to the meeting, revealed a new dimension for each member. Fifteen different crafts and hobbies were seen, including, quilting, crocheting, knitting, needlepoint, trapunto embroidery, poetry, miniature pewter collection, old valentine collection and music book collections.

Committee reports revealed, a homemade quilt will be raffled, at the Strawberry Festival in June.

A tentative date for the Spring Rummage Sale is April 27, with Aldine Potter as chair.

A social outing, to the Westgate Dinner Theatre, will be on Sunday, March 24, for members and guests. "Fiddler On the Roof" will be the performance.

International Weekend, in Windsor, was Feb. 22-24, and three members attended. This event is when our Canadian cousins, in B.P.W., entertain their American cousins, with dinner, music, cheese and wine party and an abundance of goodwill and friendship displayed.

On Sunday, April 14, Belleville B.P.W. will be the host club, for the District XIII meeting. This luncheon will be at the K. of C. Hall in Wayne.

The public relations handled the arrangements for this meeting.

Building plan has merit

The $1.55 million series of construction and renovation projects proposed in the City of Wayne represents an aggressive approach toward developing a needed municipal building plan.

The City Center Master Plan unveiled last week would relocate the 29th District Court in city hall; convert the Reichard Building (former recreation building) into the new city hall, and renovate and expand the Wayne-Westland Library. It also provides for improvements in the area bounded by the Rouge River, Sims, Second and Wayne Road, including construction of an amphitheater.

What the program achieves is the location of a city hall, court and library in expanded quarters that will provide a better environment for both employees and the visitors to these facilities. For years the 29th District Court headquarters at 36040 Michigan Ave. has been a source of embarrassment.

District Court Judge John C. Seiler has on more than one occasion publicly described the facility as the "worst courthouse in the State of Michigan." We are not qualified to term the courthouse the "worst," however, we agree that the crowded conditions at the court have long made that building unworkable. The criminal justice system in Wayne deserves far better treatment in terms of space allotment and overall working conditions.

Relocation of the 29th District Court is a concept far overdue. In many ways the movement of the courthouse rates as the most integral part of the plan and must be considered among the top priorities in any building improvement program.

We also concur in the premise that there exists a lack of unity in municipal building types and an element of unsightliness in the various fences, poles and underdeveloped park area near the existing city hall complex. The City Center Master Plan addresses this issue in an effective manner; the proposed series of building changes and addition of parking areas, lighting and pathways provides a picturesque uniformity.

The relocation of city hall has merit, too. In a city whose proud motto is "It's Great To Live in Wayne," the city hall is not exactly a source of pride in terms of appearance and efficiency. Access to the building is from Sims Street, yet parking is off Second Street, inconveniently located at the lower level.

Crowding and overlapping has made some departments inefficient and created a confusing state of affairs for the public. A person unfamiliar with the existing arrangements may interrupt several persons while attempting to transact business. The Reichard Building on South Wayne Road offers more space, facilities on one floor, barrier free access and parking that will result in convenience for the public.

How will these projects be funded if approved by the city council? Therein lies the potential problem.

Everyone seems to agree that the City Center Master Plan makes plenty of sense. Administration officials and Erick Carne of Carne Associates are to be commended for the deveping a plan both aesthetically and functionally appropriate for Wayne's needs.

Such work will be left on the drawing boards without a comprehensive funding plan. Officials say such a financial package will be delivered soon to the city council for consideration. Already speculation centers on the implementation of the plan in stages taking several years.

Without seeing the proposed means of financing, it is difficult to give our unmitigated support to the entire building project.

On the surface, a comprehensive Plan could be a positive step for the community.

But at what cost? And will additional tax millage be requested. If so, how much?

God, Grampa and MTV

Last Friday a local FM radio station broadcast several hours of Yasha Heifetz recordings. The resonate sounds reverberating from the small wooden musical instrument in the hands of a master talent sounded like nothing less than music sent directly from God.

A violin, in the hands of a supreme artist such as Heifetz, can emit sounds that touch your soul and make you feel as though you really may be eavesdropping at the gates of heaven.

The music, which was stirring in its sheer beauty, brought to mind several seemingly unrelated items.

First, I recalled my grandfather explaining to me years ago his reason for leaving the church.

For five generations my family, including my father, had lived in the Adrian, Michigan area and been very involved in the Methodist Church. The church played a very important and significant role in my family's life — and had, for a long, long time.

Pops, as we affectionately called my grandfather, was a musician. Specifically, he was a violinist. He performed professionally, making a living playing the "fiddle" along with owning a music store. He later owned an auto dealership — but that's another story.

Well, the good Christian ladies down at the Methodist Church decided that "the violin is clearly an instrument of the devil," and that, "Fred should give up playing that wicked thing." Fred, however, (Fred being Pops' given name) decided that he was every bit as good a judge of what God wanted him to do as were the Methodist "whitened sepul-

Pops chose to leave the church, rather than the violin, as a result of the criticism of him and his music, never to return.

I've wondered since then if God doesn't really love the violin — and perhaps even play. Certainly I cannot believe that he takes any exception to Heifetz' music, or to that of Isaac Stern or to Itzhak Perlman's mastery of the strings.

Hearing the sounds these men make, I believe that God truly loves music ... although I can't imagine him watching MTV. It may be a pay service from where God is ... but even if it's part of basic service, I wonder what God thinks of this phenomenon which has captivated teens, pre-teens and young adults.

Just in case you've missed it, MTV is a video music channel on cable television which features the latest videotaped efforts at dramatizing the music of rock stars. It is, at times, sexually explicit, suggestive, violent and ... well, very loud. To its credit, however, is some of the finest, most innovative camera work and direction in the business — along with supremely talented design and photography.

I notice that the prinicpal of at least one Plymouth-Canton middle school has sanctioned MTV viewing in the school, having it available in the cafeteria during lunch breaks.

Perhaps it is that social mores and values change at a pace that those of us now more than 40 do not adjust to so readily. Perhaps the pulsing tone of the violin in Grampa's day was as suggestive and repulsive to the Methodist "ladies" as is MTV and its cul-

Toy drive set

To the Editor

The CardioPulmonary Services Department at Annapolis Hospital conducted their third annual Christmas Toy Drive in December of last year. We collected toys and clothing for several weeks, in order to join the efforts of several area service organizations in supplying Christmas presents to those families that might otherwise have none.

We at Annapolis would like to bring attention to and thank a few local organizations whose generosity helped our efforts tremendously.

Hook's Cleaners has for the past three years helped us. They have unselfishly cleaned and frequently repaired many clothes and stuffed toys.

Burrough's Corporation of Wayne and Wayne City Hall employees and meter readers made substantial contributions to our efforts this year. Special appreciation is directed to Bruce Thibault and Doris Nall, at Burrough's and City Hall respectively, who coordinated the efforts of these thoughtful caring organizations.

The citizens of the area should be aware of the efforts of these fine community minded local businesses. We extend to them our sincere thanks for all of their contributions.

No quotas for foster care

By DOLORES M. COULTER

Your December 12, 1984, editorial "Fair Share" Policy Overdue," recently came to my attention. Both personally, and professionally, as an attorney who has been involved in some of the litigation that has arisen over the placement of group homes in residential neighborhoods, I am very concerned with the editorial's endorsement of a policy which treats persons in need of foster care as second class citizens.

The 'fair share' slogan, like many political slogans, has a simplistic, surface appeal that obscures the real issues. The underlying assumption of 'fair share' advocates is that persons in need of foster care, including persons who are elderly, handicapped, developmentally disabled, or mentally disabled, are to be treated as undesirable intrusions in residential communities — in the same manner as toxic waste dumps, junk yards, or X-rated bookstores.

In many instances, the only alternative for foster care residents is large state institutions or nursing homes. In some instances parents who have cared for a disabled child for many years are no longer able to do so and are seeking an alternative that would allow their child to continue to reside in their community. The 'fair share' policy is really a thinly disguised quota system, which would be unthinkable if it were to be applied to other minority groups in our society.

Furthermore, the idea that some communities are being saturated with adult foster care homes has no foundation in fact; adult foster care homes are a miniscule percentage of any community's total number of residential units. The City of Livonia, for example has 18 group homes housing approximately 108 residents, out of a total of 32,000 residential units and a population of 104,814. Thus, group homes are 0.056% of the total number of residential units and 0.1% of the total population.

The opportunity to live in a residential community is a fundamental right which cannot be infringed upon because of unfounded fears of people who are different. The approach which responsible community leaders should be taking is not to encourage confrontations and resistance, but instead to promote an acceptance of the idea that disabled and elderly persons who need foster care have the same right to live in the residential neighborhoods as anyone else. This is the premise on which the state law which overrides local zoning ordinances in the placement of small group homes is based.

There may very well be a need for greater coordination and cooperation between state and local officials in the development of group homes. However, quota systems or other proposals, which are merely disguised attempts to exclude persons in need of foster care from residential neighborhoods will only further polarize this issue and impede cooperation.

The losers will be those in our society who are the most vulnerable.

Older workers' hotline established

Wayne County Executive William Lucas is encouraging unemployed older workers, aged 55 and over, to call 1-800-JOB-HIRE to find out about free job training and placement programs specifically designed for older adults.

Lucas noted that "in the spirit of cooperation, Wayne County Private Industry Corporation (PIC), Area Agencies on Aging of Michigan, Southeast Michigan PIC, and the Downriver Community Conference have joined forces to provide one information resource for the entire southeast Michigan area."

Wayne County's training and placement program, conducted by the Wayne County Office on Aging, handles applicants from all of Wayne County, excluding Detroit and the downriver communities. However, information on all area older worker programs is available on the hotline.

Lucas said: "Statistics show that older workers make excellent employees. Unfortunately, many older workers have been displaced after working for years with companies which have gone out of business or have suffered some other type of transition. We provide excellent retraining and placement programs designed to help these people back into the work force, while also meeting the employers' specific needs."

Wayne County's Office on Aging offers assistance with interview skills, resume writing and job searching. Specific on-the-job training in areas such as clerical fields, sales, health care and maintenance is available with full pay.

While the eventual goal of the program is to provide long-term unsubsidized employment for the applicants, employers can be paid up to one-half of the hourly wage for a period of four to 14 weeks.

Further information regarding Wayne County's program is available by calling 467-3454, or the hotline at 1-800-JOB-HIRE.

Ford criticized in seat dispute

Leaders of the National Republican Congressional Committee have accused U.S. Rep. William Ford (D) of the 15th District of helping to leave 500,000 persons in Indiana without representation in Congress.

William Ford

Ford recently voted to refuse to seat Indiana Republican Rick McIntyre as a member of the House despite the fact that a recount had confirmed McIntyre as the winner of the election in Indiana's eighth district, according to a committee spokesman.

Committee members claim that McIntyre defeated Democratic incumbent Frank McCloskey by 34 votes last November and that the margin of victory increased to 418 votes following a recount. A Republican request that McIntyre be seated provisionally while recount procedures in Indiana are examined was defeated in the House, with Ford among the Democrats in opposition.

"Quite properly the House has refused to seat either the incumbent or his challenger at this time," Ford responded.

"For a member of the House to seat either one until all the facts are known would fly in the face of electoral justice. No fair-minded person can say at this time that one or the other is the victor."

Joe Gaylor, executive director of the National Republican Congressional Committee, charged Ford and his colleagues with "refusing to honor the wishes of the voters in Indiana and continuing to delay the seating of McIntyre until they can construct a system that will enable them to steal the seat for their Democrat candidate."

ture-shock look and sound are to many today.

Perhaps music is the instrument of the devil and should be banned completely as the Ayatollah Khomeini has pronounced in Iran. But it seems to me that the sin is often in those who set themselves up as the self-proclaimed judge and jury of right and wrong. Perhaps greater tolerance of the preferences of those younger than ourselves in music as well as other matters is in order. It might also serve God's purpose more aptly if those who are quick to put words in God's mouth were less inclined to do so.

I often think of the term ethnocentrism when I encounter a certain type of thinking. Ethnocentrism is a lovely sounding word applied to those who really believe that anyone who doesn't agree with them and their thinking is wrong, has no values and is a bad person. To disagree with them is to brand yourself as totally unworthy. Such egotists have been around for a long time and will no doubt continue to flourish.

Now, I'm sure I can accept visions of God wearing a Michael Jackson jeweled glove on one hand and spinning on his head "break dancing."

But I can certainly envision him playing the music of Mozart on a violin made for him by Stradivarius. That kind of music must be a gift from God — only He could create such beauty, and be generous enough to give it to us. Music is one of His gifts — for us to enjoy, to revel in and to inspire us to celebrate life, whether it be Mozart or Cyndi Lauper.

I wonder what Grampa would have thought of MTV.

See you next week.

Hospice affiliated Center

Hospice of Washtenaw, a community agency that began operation in 1981, providing direct services and coordinating community resources for terminally ill patients and their families, has announced its affiliation with Catherine McAuley Health Center.

According to David Harrell, president of the board of directors of Hospice of Washtenaw, the agency is excited about the potential of working with a comprehensive health center.

"We approached Catherine McAuley Health Center to explore opportunities to work together. Through affiliation with a major community health center, Hospice of Washtenaw will be able to expand services for its patients," Harrell said.

Members of the Hospice of Washtenaw Professional Advisory Committee, who have helped to prepare for the affiliation, will continue to guide and advise the agency.

Hospice of Washtenaw will retain its name and United Way status and as a result of the new affiliation will expand and provide nursing care which had previously only been available through contracts with local home health agencies.

The consolidated hospice and home health program will facilitate provision of Medicare certified hospice care.

failing health and isolation.

"And often," Baker said, "their chronic health problems are made worse by the misuse of alcohol or drugs."

The counseling program for older adults, which has been in effect for two months, has been a success so far, according to Sokoloff.

"People should be assured that our treatment services are strictly confidential and individualized to meet each person's needs," she said. "Depending on the situation, services may include screening, assessments, treatment planning, intervention services, individual and group therapy, and educational and support groups."

According to Baker, fees are based on income and an individual's ability to pay, and treatment services are provided regardless of the person's ability to pay. Baker also noted that many health insurance plans cover the cost of services.

"What we need is for people to show concern for their neighbors, to watch them and let someone know, if they see any problems," said Sokoloff, adding "this can be a neighbor, a relative, a landlord, anyone really. We're here to help, and that's the chance we need."

(If you or anyone you know may be having any of the problems outlined here, don't close your eyes to the situation. Professional help is available at the Romulus Help Center, 35085 Goddard. For more information contact Jayne Sokoloff at 941-7970.)

CITY OF ROMULUS

DOG LICENSE

All dogs in the City of Romulus must be licensed. This is for your benefit. If your family pet ever slips its leash, this policy could keep your child from being heartbroken. Also, if you are bitten, knowing that the dog is licensed and has had rabies shots can save you from worrying about a painful series of inoculations. The law was designed to benefit all City residents, whether or not they own dogs.

A City dog license costs $5.00 for both male and female dogs. Licenses for spayed and neutered dogs cost only $1.50. A lower license fee for these dogs is intended to help control the rise in the canine population. Senior citizens (age 65 or older) pay only $2.50 or $.75 per license. Proof of rabies vaccination must be presented when applying for a new dog license or renewal. March 1st of every year is the deadline for license renewal. A late fee of $1.50, in addition to the regular fee will be charged after that date.

TO LICENSE YOUR DOG

Bring a rabies vaccination certificate and an affidavit or Veterinary Certificate for spayed female or neutered male dogs, as well as proof of your age, if you qualify for the senior citizen discount, to:

Office of the City Treasurer
Romulus Municipal Building
11111 Wayne Road
Romulus, Michigan

between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. — Monday through Friday. A license will be issued to you at that time. The license tag must be worn by the animal at all times, attached by a collar of leather, iron, copper, brass or other durable material. Puppies must be licensed when they reach six months of age.

PENALTIES

Any person not adhering to any of the regulations outlined in this letter will be in violation of the provisions of the City's Animal Control Ordinance.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION:

Please call the Romulus Animal Control Center at 941-0666, Ext. 245, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. For emergencies after hours, call the Romulus Police Department 941-8400. The Animal Control Center will respond to all calls reporting licensed and unlicensed dogs running loose, injured animals, dead animals, dangerous dogs and excessive barking dogs.

wax candles and evergreens in the windows and candelabras for the late evening, pre-Christmas nuptial of Pamela S. Shriver and Ronald Keith Berglund.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Shriver of Spencer, Ohio, while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Berglund of Canton Township.

The double ring ceremony was officiated by the Rev. Larry Wetzel and Fr. James D'Aprile, with Mrs. Richard Ronald as the organist. Mrs. David Smith was soloist and sang "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer," during the ceremony.

The bride chose a floor-length gown of ivory organza over taffeta for the ceremony. The Rachele lace and pearl covered bodice featured a U-shaped neckline, keyhole back and full Chantilly lace sleeves. The long overskirt was etched with matching Rachele lace, which also bordered a center panel of knife pleating that dropped from the gown's empire waistline. A back panel of Chantilly and Rachele lace trim extended into an oval chapel train.

The bride's fingertip illusion veil was trimmed in matching lace and together with a blusher veil were caught to a lace and pearl covered cap.

She carried a bouquet of silk pink and lavender roses, and lillies of the valley attached to a small white Bible, which her mother carried at her wedding.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Roy Harrold Jr. of Dover, Ohio, a friend of the bride. The bridesmaids were Debbie Shriver of Pleasant City, Ohio, cousin of the bride, and Allison Vickers of Spencer, Ohio, a friend of the bride.

The flowergirl was Karen Edwards of Tuscarawas, Ohio, a friend of the bride, with Brett Marquis of Kent, Ohio, cousin of the bride, as the ringbearer.

The attendants wore matching ensembles, with the matron of honor and flowergirl dressed Daphne rose-colored knit gowns, with a standup collar, illusion front and back yokes of point Desprit lace and fitted empire bodice. The flounce created a capelet effect. The bridesmaids wore Aubergin (lavender) colored gowns.

The attendants carried hurricane lamps decorated with silk pink and lavender roses and lillies of the valley.

The groom asked Kenneth Spangler of Canton, Ohio, a friend, to perform the duties of best man. The escorts were Dean Shriver of Medina, Ohio, brother of the bride, and Bob Smith of New Philadelphia, Ohio, a friend of the groom.

A reception for the newlyweds and their guests was held in the church's Fellowship Hall. The rehearsal dinner was held at the Plain & Fancy Restaurant in New Philadelphia.

The new Mrs. Berglund is a 1983 graduate of Black River High School in Sullivan, Ohio.

Her husband is a 1983 graduate of Assumption High School in Windsor, Ontario, Canada, and also is a sophomore at Walsh College. He will enter the U.S. Air Force in May 1985.

The couple is currently residing in Canton, Ohio.

Stempien--Klozik

A June 22 wedding date has been set by Paula Marie Stempien of Torrance, California, and Mark Kozik of Redondo Beach, California.

A 1979 graduate of Cherry Hill High School, she received her bachelor degrees in accounting and operations management in 1983 from the University of Michigan-Dearborn. A member of the National Honor Society during high school and Alpha Kappa Phi, she currently is employed by the Howard Hughes Aircraft Credit Union in Manhattan Beach, California.

Her fiancé is the son of J. Marty and Jean Klozik of Harper Woods. A 1977 graduate of Gross Pointe North High School, he received his bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Michigan-Dearborn in 1982. A member of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronauts, he is past pres-

The bride is the daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Robert Mell of Santa Ana. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Owens of Wayne.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dolores D. Gilster.

The bride carried a bouquet of red and white carnations for the early evening ceremony.

The groom asked his best friend, Cpl. Edward Vasquez of El Toro, California, to perform the duties of best man.

age or better athletic ability and can sign up in any of the following sports: basketball, cross country, diving, field hockey (women), golf, ice hockey, judo, skiing, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, track, volleyball (women) and water polo (men). Each team, which

Sport for Understanding is a program of Youth for Understanding, one of the largest non-profit international educational organizations, which has exchanged over 100,000 students during its 33 years of operation. It draws upon the resources of an organization that maintains offices and a professional staff in 13 U.S. regions and in 26 countries around the world.

The SFU program, now in its third year of operation, is planned and administered by an experienced group of professionals, sports administrators, university faculty and international coaches. The staff is in close contact with sports leaders, host coaches and sports clubs in each nation.

Last summer, more than 400 high school students joined various teams that were led by coaches selected from across the United States. The 1985 program will send some 500 participants and coaches comprising 37 teams in 15 different sports to foreign countries.

Interested coaches and players should write to SFU, Department 3501 Newark Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., 20016.

CANCELLATIONS

Read your ad carefully the first time it appears, and report any errors before the next edition. This will be the only proof you will receive.
Errors should be reported immediately, as Associated Newspapers, Inc. can be responsible for the first incorrect insertion only. NO
CASH REFUNDS WILL BE MADE.

PUBLICATION
POLICY

The publisher reserves the right to edit or reject and properly classify advertising submitted for publicaheld liable for typographical errors except to the extent of the cost of first insertion

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD
CLASSIFIED AD

1. IT'S ALWAYS BEST to start your advertisement with the name of the item or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment or room for rent or property for sale, it is better to start your advertisement with the location.
2. BE CLEAR. Readers react more quickly and favorably when given complete or definite information. One of the most important considerations of any advertisement is to include the price.
3. MAKE IT EASY for the reader prospect to reach you. ALWAYS INSERT your telephone number or your name and address if you do not have regular hours, state a preferred time to have prospects contact you.
4. PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know (about your offer). The answer will make a good classified ad.
5. CLASSIFIED READERS ARE wiredly interested in buying used or new merchandise.
These people have the money and are in the market to buy.
Give them every advantage you can with good ad copy.
6. CLASSIFIED ADS THAT FAIL to go out through a lack of readership, but because they are often quickly worded and do not contain enough information to prompt action.
